- quality use of medicines and the National Medicines Policy (2000);
- Australian Pharmaceutical Advisory Council (APAC) guidelines to achieve continuity in medication management (2005);
- legislative changes within South Australia's drugs and poisons regulations that impact on the nurse's or midwife's role and responsibility for medicines management; and
- the changing scope of nursing and midwifery practice. Nurses and midwives are required to comply with state laws, professional codes and standards as well as organisational policies and procedures that ensure safe and effective practice.

DEFINITION

Quality use of medicines (QUM) is one of the key objectives of Australia's National Medicines Policy (2000). The QUM means selecting management options wisely, choosing suitable medicines if a medicine is considered necessary and using all medicines judiciously, appropriately, safely and efficaciously (National Strategy for Quality Use of Medicines 2002, National Medicines Policy 2000).

The term 'medicine' includes prescription and non-prescription medicines, including complementary healthcare products (The National Medicines Policy 2000).

This standard is intended for nurses and midwives; where there is reference to a nurse this includes an enrolled nurse or registered nurse.

This standard is designed to be used in conjunction with:

- nmbSA Scope of Practice Decision Making Tool (2006, amended July 2009);
- nmbSA Standard for Delegation by a Registered Nurse or a Midwife to an Unlicensed Healthcare Worker (2005, amended August 2009);
- Controlled Substances Act 1984; and
- Controlled Substances (Poisons) Regulations 1996.

MEDICINES MANAGEMENT

It is recognised that the management of medicines involves a wide range of partners including consumers, nursing, midwifery, medical and pharmaceutical professions, health services providers and suppliers, industry and governments.

The management of medicines comprises nine key components and three system-wide background processes with a focus on the consumer (Figure 1). The medicine management cycle provides an overview of what happens when medicines are used. The components and processes are interrelated and influence each other.

The cycle is also used as a continuous quality improvement framework to assist consumers and all health professionals to identify how the components are related, the potential for any errors and actions which can be taken to improve medicines safety. Generally each step will be undertaken when medicines are used, however, the steps may not occur in strict sequence or undertaken in the same way (Stowasser et al 2004).

Traditionally the professional responsibilities of nurses and midwives emphasise the administration of medicines including monitoring for response and educating the patient or client about their medicines. However the scope of nursing and midwifery practice has expanded beyond medicine administration and incorporates all components of the medicine management cycle including prescribing. The extent of involvement in each component by the nurse or midwife will vary depending on their role and responsibilities, the health care setting and the individual's scope of practice.

The nmbSA has developed a Medicines Management Standard that

- articulates and documents what the nmbSA expects as a minimum requirement by nurses and midwives in medicines management that is safe and therapeutic;
- identifies medicines management as incorporating all associated actions from patient or client assessment, medicines administration and evaluation inclusive of the storage and disposal of medicines;
- takes into consideration the increasing complexity and scope of nursing and midwifery practice, the changes to educational preparation and the accountability and autonomy of nurses and midwives in decision making for the delivery of client centred care; and
- acknowledges the multidisciplinary and collaborative nature of medicines management.

The responsibility, accountability and activities related to medicines management are linked to the individual nurse's or midwife's scope of practice. Hence this Standard should be used in conjunction with the Nursing and Midwifery Board of South Australia (nmbSA) Scope of Practice Decision Making Tool (2006, re-branded 2009).

STANDARD 1

SCOPE OF PRACTICE

In line with the nmbSA Scope of Practice Decision Making Tool (2006), the role of nurses and midwives in medicines management is governed by:

- legislation;
- applicable standards, guidelines and codes of practice;
- organisational policies and procedures; and
- Individual educational preparation.

(a) Legislation

All nurses and midwives who administer medicines must comply with the Controlled Substance Act (CSA) 1984 and the Controlled Substances (General) Regulations 2000, and Controlled Substances (Poisons) Regulations 1996.

Section 18 and section 31 of the CSA 1984, permits nurses and midwives to administer prescription medicines when acting in the 'ordinary course of their profession'. This includes the administration of Schedule 8 medicines by enrolled nurses when delegated by a registered nurse or registered midwife.

Section 18 (1) (a) of the CSA 1984, permits nurses to administer or prescribe prescription medicines to a person provided they are acting in the ordinary course of their profession. Approval for midwifery as a prescribed profession to prescribe medicines under the CSA 1984 will need to be sought through the Controlled Substances Advisory Council.

Under the Nursing and Midwifery Practice Act 2008, Section 36 (3) registered nurses or midwives who have been endorsed with an authorisation to prescribe prescription medicines by the Nursing and Midwifery Board of South Australia (nmbSA) may prescribe medicines while acting in the ordinary course of his or her profession.

(b) Applicable Standards

It is the responsibility of individual registered nurses, midwives and enrolled nurses to interpret the nmbSA Standard for Medicines Management, professional codes and standards and applicable law, policy and guidelines relevant to the individual practice setting in the management of medicines.

(c) Organisational Policies and Procedures

Employers are responsible for providing adequate resources for the safe administration of medicines in accordance with legislative requirements. The employer is responsible for:

- ensuring employees have the necessary competencies;
- developing policies and procedures relating to medicine management, including self administration, administration of medicines from dose administration aids (DAAs) and nurse or midwife initiation of non prescription medicines from standing orders;
- having a comprehensive medicines incident reporting system in place;
- promoting a just culture of safety that encourage reporting of medicine errors;
- ensuring that enrolled nurses have access to an appropriately qualified registered nurse or registered midwife at all times;

- providing educational opportunities for nurses and midwives to acquire and maintain competence in medicine administration; and
- providing secure storage for all medicines in accordance with regulations.

(d) Educational Preparation

Safe care and practice in medicines management require that medicines are administered, prescribed, recommended or provided by a nurse or midwife who has been authorised under the Controlled Substances Act 1984 and Regulations and Nursing and Midwifery Practice Act 2008 and Regulations 2009. Nurses and midwives performing these functions must ensure they have the appropriate educational preparation and demonstrated competency in safe medicine management.

STANDARD 2

ADMINISTRATION

Nursing and midwifery practice in medicines administration must include evidence of:

- (a) current knowledge of therapeutic substances and associated technology, their safe use in contemporary health care practice and the optimum mode of administration, including self medication;
- (b) appropriate preparation and administration of medicines in accordance with written or verbal prescription order and organisational policy and procedure;
- (c) client's consent for communicating medicines information to other health professionals or all those involved in the client's care;
- (d) accurate documentation of medicines administered or withheld;
- (e) directing clients to accessible information about prescribed medicines;
- (f) monitoring and evaluating the client's response to medicines, and promoting regular review of medicines by relevant members of the health care team;
- (g) identifying and reporting in accordance with organisational policy cases where there is evidence of under use, overuse or abuse of medicines;
- (h) reporting of adverse medicine events including near misses, through an incident reporting system; and
- (i) secure storage and safe disposal of all medicines in accordance with regulations and organisational policies.

Client Self Administration

The Australian Pharmaceutical Advisory Council (APAC) has developed guidelines for medicine management in residential care facilities and community care settings that emphasise a client focused and multidisciplinary approach to medicine management. The guidelines incorporate nurses and midwives in a partnership approach with clients by ensuring that:

- (a) a formal assessment of the client is undertaken by the registered nurse or midwife prior to the introduction of self administration;
- (b) clients can access appropriate information, including Consumer Medicine Information (CMI), that help the client to administer medicines safely and provide advice about medicine use;
- (c) where a dose administration aid (DAA) has been packed and clearly labelled by a pharmacist, it should meet the standard of being tamper evident;
- (d) if a medicine order is changed or the DAA has been tampered with, the entire DAA should be returned to the pharmacist for repackaging; and
- (e) clients are monitored to ensure that they can continue to administer medicine safely.

STANDARD 3

RESPONSIBILITY AND ACCOUNTABILITY

It is important that nurses and midwives accept and understand their accountability and responsibility in relation to written and verbal prescriptions and orders, medicine administration, documentation, monitoring, incident reporting, client education, transportation, storage and disposal of medicines.

Registered Nurse or Midwife

In line with the national Australian Nursing and Midwifery Council (ANMC) Competency Standards, the registered nurse or midwife is responsible for the following practices:

- (a) undertaking a comprehensive assessment of the client, including the need for medicine therapy or withholding of medicines;
- (b) delegating and supervising (directly or indirectly) aspects of medication management to enrolled nurses and others commensurate with their abilities and scope of practice;
- (c) assessing the competency of a client to undertake self administration of medicines in consultation with the client and relevant health care professionals and in accordance with organisational policy and procedure; and
- (d) contributing to the review of legislation, standards and policies that influence their role in medicine management; and
- (e) identifying potential medicines safety issues and participating in the improvement of medicine safety in healthcare organisations.

Enrolled Nurse

In accordance with the Nursing and Midwifery Practice Act 2008, an enrolled nurse practises with the supervision (direct or indirect) of a registered nurse or midwife. The enrolled nurse retains responsibility for their own actions whilst the registered nurse or midwife is accountable for all delegated functions including medicine administration. The following practices apply to the role of the enrolled nurse in medicine administration:

- (a) appropriately educated enrolled nurses can administer prescription medicines including Schedule 8 medicines in accordance with the principles of delegation and supervision, and organisational policy;
- (b) Enrolled nurses administering medicines must self assess their level of competence and comply with State and Federal laws and organisational policy and procedure;
- (c) Enrolled nurses can witness the telephone order which is received by a registered nurse or midwife;
- (d) Enrolled nurses can receive prescribed instructions by telephone when witnessed by a responsible person*; (Controlled Substances (Poisons) Regulations 1996, regulation 31(1)(e)(i));
- (e) in accordance with the Controlled Substance (Poisons) Regulations 1996, enrolled nurses can assume responsibility for record keeping of drugs of dependence if they are the designated nurse¹ for the shift; and
- (f) enrolled nurses are not to initiate, supply or administer non prescription medicines including complementary healthcare products unless they have been approved in writing by the treating registered nurse, midwife or medical practitioner.

¹ Pursuant to regulation 31(2a) of the Controlled Substances (Poisons) Regulations 1996, the Director of Nursing or the manager of a health service must ensure that for each shift for each ward of the health service a nurse or midwife is designated as having responsibility for record keeping under subregulation (2). The designated nurse or midwife must be present on the ward during the shift and may only be an enrolled nurse if no registered nurse or midwife will be present (2b).

STANDARD 4

ENDORSEMENT For Prescribing

Registered nurses or midwives must meet the requirements of the nmbSA regulatory framework for endorsement of authority to prescribe prescription medicines. This includes evidence of:

- (a) successful completion of approved education preparation;
- (b) continuing professional development;
- (c) approved formulary (if required);
- (d) responsibility for clinical assessment and management of the client including responsibility for prescribing;
- (e) adherence to legal requirements for writing prescriptions for schedule 4 and schedule 8 medicines and record keeping (Medicines should be prescribed using generic or non-proprietary names);
- (f) cost effective and appropriate prescribing for specified client or group;
- (g) collaboration and partnership with the client and relevant members of the health care team; and
- (h) professional indemnity insurance if not working as an employee who is covered under the organisation's Liability Insurance.

STANDARD 5

MEDICINES ORDERS

In relation to medicines orders nurses and midwives:

- (a) must not transcribe medicine prescription orders by a medical practitioner, nurse practitioner or a registered nurse or midwife who has been endorsed with prescribing rights;
- (b) can administer a drug of dependence in situations where the instructions are given by a medical practitioner over the telephone. The instructions must be given to a nurse or midwife and one other responsible person* (Controlled Substances (Poisons) Regulations, 1996, regulation 31(1)(e)(i));
- (c) can administer registered nurse or midwife initiated non-prescription medicines or prescription medicines in accordance with standing orders or treatment protocols approved by the Drug Advisory Committee or equivalent; and
- (d) must ensure that clinical assessment and judgement precede the initiation or delegation of the administration of medicines ordered 'when required' (PRN). The use of 'PRN' medicines should be time limited and subject to regular review.

A Responsible Person

Service providers or employers should not require a person, (who is not a nurse or midwife), to witness the administration of a drug of dependence or verify telephone instructions by a doctor for the administration of a drug of dependence unless that person:

- Is an adult person
- Is proficient in written and spoken English
- Has been properly instructed and trained by their employers with respect to the duties associated with witnessing medication administration and verifying telephone orders; and
- Possesses the competence to perform properly the duties associated with witnessing administration and verifying telephone orders.

Order by Delegate of the Minister for Consumer Affairs

PURSUANT to section 24 of the Prices Act 1948, I, David Green, Commissioner for Consumer Affairs, being a position to which the Minister for Consumer Affairs has delegated powers under that section, make the following order:

Citation

1. This order may be cited as Prices Order No. 1131 (S.A.).

Commencement

2. This order will come into operation on 1 July 2010.

Order No. 1130 (S.A.) Superseded

3. This order supersedes Prices Order No. 1130 (S.A.) (see Gazette 9 April 2009, page 1335).

Interpretation

4. (1) In this order:

‘GST’ means the tax payable under the GST law;

‘GST law’ means:

(a) A New Tax System (Goods and Services Tax) Act 1999 (Commonwealth); and

(b) the related legislation of the Commonwealth dealing with the imposition of a tax on the supply of goods, services and other things;

‘motor car’ means a motor vehicle (as defined in section 5 of the Motor Vehicles Act 1959):

(a) designed for the principal purpose of carrying passengers; and

(b) designed to carry not more than eight adult persons (including the driver), and includes a motor vehicle of the type commonly known as a utility, station sedan or panel van;

‘normal hours’ means the hours between 7.30 a.m. and 5 p.m. on any day other than a Saturday, Sunday or public holiday;

‘prescribed motor vehicle’ means a motor car, motor bike, caravan or trailer;

‘running kilometres’, in relation to the distance travelled for the purposes of supplying a service to which this order applies, means the number of kilometres travelled from the registered premises of the person supplying the service to the scene of the accident, from the scene of the accident to the place of repair or storage of the prescribed motor vehicle to which the services relate and from the place of repair or storage of the vehicle to those registered premises.

(2) In this order the expressions ‘accident’, ‘caravan’, ‘declared area’, ‘motor bike’, ‘quotation for repair’, ‘registered premises’, ‘tow’, ‘tow truck’ and ‘trailer’ have the same meaning as in the Motor Vehicles Act 1959.

Services to Which Order Applies

5. This order applies to the following services:

(a) the recovery and towing at or from the scene of an accident occurring within the declared area of a prescribed motor vehicle damaged in the accident;

(b) the storage of a prescribed motor vehicle damaged in an accident occurring within the declared area;

(c) the quotation for repair of a prescribed motor vehicle damaged in an accident occurring within the declared area.

Declaration of Maximum Prices

6. (1) Subject to this clause, I declare that the maximum price (inclusive of GST component) at which a service specified in the first column of the table in the Schedule may be supplied is:

(a) in the case of a service provided during normal hours—the amount specified opposite in the second column of the table;

(b) in the case of a service provided outside normal hours—the amount specified opposite in the third column of the table.

(2) If the work involved in supplying a service to which this order applies is carried out partly during normal hours and partly outside normal hours, the maximum price that may be charged for providing the service must be calculated according to the maximum price specified in the Schedule for providing the service during the time of the day at which the work is actually carried out.

(3) The maximum price that may be charged for supplying a service for which the Schedule specifies a maximum price per hour is to be calculated in accordance with the following formula:

$$A = \frac{B}{20} \times C$$

where—

A is the maximum amount that may be charged for the service;

B is the maximum price per hour for the service specified in the Schedule;

C is the number of complete six minute periods spent in providing the service.
