RETURN TO WORK CORPORATION OF SOUTH AUSTRALIA ACT 1994

RETURN TO WORK ACT 2014

Self-Insured Insolvency Contribution Aggregate (SIICA) Determination 2024

The Board of the Return to Work Corporation of South Australia ("the Corporation") determines as follows pursuant to Section 17 of the Return to Work Corporation of South Australia Act 1994, Section 157 of the Return to Work Act 2014 ("the RTW Act") and all other enabling powers:

Part 1—Preliminary Matters

1. This determination may be cited as the Self-Insured Insolvency Contribution Aggregate ("SIICA") Determination 2024.
2. This determination which commences 1 July 2024 ("Commencement Date") applies to self-insured employers and replaces the determination of the Board made on 26 June 2017.

Continuation of SIICA

3. On 1 December 1995 the Board authorised the creation of the Exempt Employer Reserve Account (EERA) to operate from 1 January 1996, to which exempt employers contributed a proportion of their levy ("fees") to protect the Compensation Fund from a self-insured employer's insolvency. Section 162(e) of the RTW Act, allows the Corporation to record the amounts contributed by each self-insured employer in respect of future employer insolvency. On 29 November 2007 the Board agreed that these amounts can be known as SIICA and SIICA was established to meet the original stated purpose of EERA.

Powers under 146 of the RTW Act

4. The fees collected pursuant to Section 146(2)(e) of the RTW Act are collected by the Corporation to meet liabilities of self-insured employers arising out of the insolvency of a self-insured employer where the fund's liabilities arising from that insolvency exceed the full amount of the financial guarantee provided by that employer.

Operation of SIICA

5. The amount of fees paid by each self-insured employer by way of a contribution to the actual and prospective liabilities of the Corporation arising from the insolvency of self-insured employers pursuant to Section 146(2)(e) of the RTW Act are recorded in a separate statistical data record (or account) that is maintained for each employer. The actual funds are pooled and form part of the Compensation Fund.
6. The actual amounts paid by the Corporation as a result of the insolvency of a self-insured employer in excess of the financial guarantee held by the Corporation in respect of the insolvency of that self-insured employer will be tracked and offset against the total amount of the fees collected in SIICA.

7. The amount of the fees collected in SIICA from self-insured employers referred to in 5 above will be reported in the Corporation's annual report (less any amount paid by the Corporation as a result of the insolvency of a self-insured employer in excess of financial guarantee held by the Corporation in respect of the insolvency of that self-insured employer) as an amount entitled 'Self Insurers Insolvency Contribution Aggregate'. Any Investment income will be credited annually to SIICA based upon the net return achieved on investments of the Compensation Fund as at 30 June each year.
8. The fees from self-insured employers in respect of the items referred to in Section 146(2)(a), (c) and (d) of the RTW Act are a percentage of the base premium that represents a fair contribution by self-insured employers to the costs of running the scheme.
9. The fees from self-insured employers in respect of items referred to in Section 146(2)(e) of the RTW Act are set at 0% of the base premium.
10. Both the rates set out in 8 and 9 above will be combined to constitute the self-insured employer fees rate pursuant to Section 146(2) of the RTW Act and will continue to operate on and from 1 July 2024.
11. The scheme actuary shall review the SIICA annually to determine the adequacy of the SIICA to meet the actual and prospective liabilities arising from the insolvency of employers pursuant to Section 146(2)(3) of the RTW Act.
