FORM 3—NOTICE TO BE GIVEN TO A PURCHASER OF APPARATUS

Important Notice

To the purchaser of an X-ray machine:

This notice, which the person or organization from whom you are buying an X-ray machine is obliged by law to give to you, is intended to inform you of certain legal obligations you will face as the owner of an X-ray unit. Failure to take note of these obligations could result in a great deal of unnecessary expense and inconvenience.

1. Basic Obligations

Two basic obligations are created by the Radiation Protection and Control Act, 1982:

- all apparatus (X-ray machines) must be registered with the Minister for Human Services (Section 32, Radiation Protection and Control Act, 1982). Ownership of an unregistered machine is an offence, with a maximum fine of $10 000, or a continuing fine of up to $1 000 per day.

· all persons who operate the apparatus must hold a licence issued by the Minister for Human Services to do so (Section 31, Radiation Protection and Control Act, 1982). The second obligation has been modified by Part III, Division II of the Ionizing Radiation Regulations, 1985. The remainder of this notice will be concerned with the first obligation.

2. Availability of Advice

The Radiation Control Section of the Department of Human Services is available to help you ensure that your installation does comply with the regulations right from the start.

3. Application to Register an X-ray Unit

An application to register an X-ray machine should be submitted to the Minister as early as possible, certainly before installation commences (an application form for registration should have been given to you with this notice). Confidentiality of any application will be assured.

The registration form should be completed with full details of the machine that was purchased and its proposed installation, including room layout. (It is realised that serial numbers will not be available until after the machine has been installed).

Important:

An application to register your new machine must be lodged before the installation is finalised. On the receipt of an application to register an X-ray machine designed for medical, dental or chiropractic use the Minister may give you, the owner, notice in writing that the X-ray machine must not be used on patients until it has been tested by the Department and found to be satisfactory.

4. Registration of X-ray Equipment

Once the installation of your new machine is finalised, officers of the Department will inspect the new facility.

Your X-ray machine must comply with the construction, shielding and installation requirements laid down in the Ionizing Radiation Regulations, 1985, in order to be registered. However if it is found not to satisfy the specified requirements, you will be given an opportunity to correct any non-compliance.

If the corrections are not made, the Minister has no choice but to refuse registration. This could give rise to a prosecution and forfeiture of the offending equipment. To ensure this does not occur, you should seek advice and assistance from the Radiation Control Section as soon as practicable.;

(b) by striking out Form 6 and substituting the following form:

FORM 6—NOTICE TO BE GIVEN TO A PURCHASER OF A SEALED RADIOACTIVE SOURCE

Important Notice

To the purchaser of a Sealed Radioactive Source:

This notice, which the person or organisation from whom you are buying a sealed radioactive source is obliged by law to give to you, is intended to inform you of certain legal obligations you will face as the owner of the source. Failure to take note of these obligations could result in a great deal of unnecessary expense and inconvenience.

1. Basic Obligations

Two basic obligations are created by the Radiation Protection and Control Act, 1982:

· most sealed radioactive sources must be registered by the owner with the Minister for Human Services (Section 32, Radiation Protection and Control Act, 1982). The list of sealed radioactive sources which are not required to be registered is given in regulation 163 of the Ionizing Radiation Regulations, 1985. Ownership of an unregistered sealed radioactive source is an offence, with a maximum fine of $10 000, or a continuing fine of up to $1 000 per day.

- all persons who use or handle radioactive substances must hold a licence issued by the Minister for Human Services to do so (Section 31, Radiation Protection and Control Act, 1982).

The second obligation has been modified by Part III, Division II of the Ionizing Radiation Regulations, 1985. The remainder of this notice will be concerned with the first obligation.

2. Availability of Advice

The Radiation Control Section of the Department of Human Services is available to advise you on the design, construction and installation requirements of the sealed source, to help you ensure that the sealed source will comply with the regulation requirements right from the start.

3. Application to Register a Sealed Radioactive Source

An application to register a sealed radioactive source should be submitted to the Minister as early as possible, certainly before you take possession of the source. (An application form for registration should have been given to you with this notice). Confidentiality of any application will be assured.

The registration form should be completed with full details of the sealed source purchased and its proposed location.

4. Registration of a Sealed Radioactive Source

On the receipt of an application to register a sealed radioactive source, the Minister will consider the construction, shielding and installation of the source which must comply with the requirements laid down in the Ionizing Radiation Regulations, 1985, in order for your sealed source to be registered.

However, if it is found not to satisfy the specified requirements you will be given an opportunity to correct any non-compliance.

If the corrections are not made, the Minister has no choice but to refuse registration. Alternatively the Minister may direct you to dispose of the source, which may mean that it must be returned to the seller. Ultimately, ownership of an unregistered sealed radioactive source could give rise to a prosecution. To ensure that registration is approved you are encouraged to seek advice from the Radiation Control Section as soon as practicable.
