REMUNERATION TRIBUNAL

REPORT RELATING TO DETERMINATION NO. 5 OF 2002

Salaries for Stipendiary Magistrates

1. INTRODUCTION

- 1.1 During the annual review of judicial remuneration in December 2001, the Stipendiary Magistrates made written and oral submissions to the Tribunal relating to their salary relativity within the South Australian judicial salary structure and in particular referred to the changes in their duties which they claim had increased the value of their work since the current relativities were set in 1992.

In its Determination No. 8 of 2001 the Tribunal stated at paragraph 5.7:

5.7 Magistrates Court Relativity

- 5.7.1 As indicated earlier in this Report, the Tribunal received written and oral sub-missions from the Magistrates in respect to their relativity in the South Australian judicial salary structure having regard to work value considerations.
- 5.7.2 The Tribunal will be providing a copy of the written submission to the Minister to enable the Minister to make submissions which are in the public interest.
- 5.7.3 Accordingly, the Tribunal confirms that it intends to hear further evidence from the parties before it makes a determination on the matter. In addition the Commissioners of the Environment, Resources and Development Court will be invited to make further submissions if the relativity of Magistrates is to be altered. In the meantime the current relativity will be continued in this Determination.
- 1.2 In their application the Magistrates submitted:

‘This application is based on significant changes which have occurred since 1992 in the jurisdiction and work value of Magistrates. These warrant a review of, and increase in, the relativity of Magistrates’ remuneration as compared to a puisne judge of the Supreme Court.’

The Magistrates’ submission included details of work changes in the following areas:

- changes to jurisdiction which have occurred since 1992;
- the introduction of the specialist courts (aboriginal, mental impairment, drug, domestic violence and youth);
- increases in the volume and nature of out of hours work; and
- increase in the amount of circuit work.

The submission also addressed judicial relativities, interstate relativities and superannuation.

- 1.3 On 19 December 2001 a copy of the Magistrates’ written submission was provided to the Minister who in accordance with section 10 (4) of the Remuneration Act 1990, was invited to make submissions relevant to the public interest. Following lengthy delay, due to the State election and change of Government, the Minister’s representatives made written and oral submissions to the Tribunal on 21 May 2002 and 4 June 2002 respectively.
- 1.4 The Tribunal received submissions from the Commissioners of the Environment, Resources and Development Court on 5 December 2001. The Commissioners requested that should the Tribunal, having heard the Magistrates’ claim for a review of relativity, be of the view that the existing parity between the Commissioners and the Magistrates was no longer appropriate, they be invited to make further submissions to the Tribunal on the matter.
- 1.5 The State Coroner, on 27 December 2001, submitted that if the relativity of Magistrates was to be altered, that his current relativity with Magistrates be maintained. He also requested that he be given the opportunity to provide further information and submissions to establish a new salary level independent of the position of Magistrates on the basis of workload levels, changes in organisational structure and increases in public expectation of the role of State Coroner.
- 1.6 The Tribunal invited submissions from the Commissioners of the Industrial Relations Commission on the question of relativity. They advised the Tribunal they did not wish to make any submissions in relation to this matter.
- 1.7 The Tribunal also sought to inform itself further on this matter through separate discussions with Chief Justice, John Doyle and the Chief Magistrate, Alan Moss.

2. WORK VALUE CHANGES—MAGISTRATES

2.1 Jurisdictional Changes

2.1.1 The Magistrates made detailed submissions in regard to increases in jurisdiction and responsibility, including those that had occurred in civil and criminal jurisdictions.

Changes included the establishment of the Consumer and Business Division of the Magistrates Court and the appointment of Magistrates as members of the Environment, Resource and Development Court.

Details were also given in regard to, the introduction of or amendment to, the following legislation:

- Corporations (South Australia) Amendment Act 1995;
- Community Titles Act 1996;
- Associations Incorporation Amendment Act 1999;
- Criminal Assets Confiscation Act 1996;
- Residential Tenancies Act 1995;
- De Facto Relationships Act 1996 under Births, Deaths and Marriages Act 1996;
- Second-Hand Dealers and Pawnbrokers Act 1995;
- Second-Hand Motor Vehicle Dealers Act 1995;
- Employment Agents Registration Act 1993;
- Statutes Amendment (Courts and Judicial Administration) Act 2001;
- Building Work Contractors Act 1995;
- Dental Practice Act 2001;
- Residential Tenancies Act 1995;
- Criminal Law Consolidation (Mental Impairment) Amendment Act 1995;
- Commonwealth Criminal Code Amendment (Theft, Fraud, Bribery and Related Offences) Act 2000;
- Commonwealth Crimes Act 1914;
- Criminal Law (Sentencing) Act 1988;
- Expiration of Offences Act 1996.

2.1.2 The Minister however, advised the Tribunal in his submission dated 21 May 2002 that the Magistrates had not specified the precise way in which the relativity of the Magistrates to a Puisne Judge should be varied and for that reason was opposed to the application. The Minister's submission went on to state 'The only reliable way to carry out a review would be to conduct a proper work value study. Because a comparison must be made that study should involve at least Magistrates and Puisne Judges. Ideally, the study should consider all judicial officers'.

2.1.3 The Minister submitted that 'there has never been any demonstrated intention to elevate the status or authority of the Magistrates Court. Indeed the intention appears to have been to relegate particular matters to the court which is at the foot of the judicial hierarchy for reasons of costs and simplicity. To increase the status of the Magistrates Court would have the effect of defeating the very purpose of the transfer of jurisdiction'.

2.1.4 The Minister's submission dated 5 July 2002 also stated:

'There have been changes to the jurisdiction of the Magistrates Court. However, it does not follow that the work of a magistrate has become more complex compared with the work of a puisne judge as a consequence of those changes.

The basic function of the magistrates remains the same. Like judicial officers on the other tiers of the judicial hierarchy the core functions of magistrates involve making findings of fact and interpreting the law. Those core elements remain the same whether the Court is determining a criminal charge or a civil commercial matter.

Magistrates, like other judicial officers and legal practitioners generally are required to identify and resolve legal issues. The new jurisdictions which are referred to in the material put forward by the magistrates do not introduce any novel element to the forensic process. The only significance of the new jurisdictions is that the task of a magistrate may have to be performed in the context of different legislation. The essential task is still the same.'

2.2 Specialist Courts

2.2.1 The Magistrates advised the Tribunal that the development of the various specialist courts since 1992 had required additional training and skills. The work involved Court and administration responsibilities which had imposed new and additional demands.

2.2.2 The Minister however advised that these courts had been established on a trial basis and several but not all Magistrates had been involved at this stage. With the roll out of these initiatives there would be however an expectation that all Magistrates be involved.

2.3 Work Value Changes

2.3.1 In determining if the increase in work value warranted a review of remuneration the Tribunal referred to the State wage fixation principles prescribed in the State Wage Case decision of 2001. In particular Principle 8, Work Value Changes which states:

'Changes in work value may arise from changes in the nature of work, skill and responsibility required or the conditions under which work is performed. Changes in work themselves may not lead to a change in wage rates. The strict test for an alteration in wage rates is that the change in the nature of the work should constitute such a significant net addition to work requirements as to warrant the creation of a new classification or upgrading to a higher classification.'

2.3.2 The Magistrates' original submission requested a review of relativity between Magistrates and a Puisne Judge because of the changes in volume and complexity of their work since 1992 when the current relativity was determined. There was no disagreement in the submissions about the changes to the legislation and the work but there was disagreement as to whether these changes were a significant net addition to their work requirements.

2.3.3 The Tribunal, in further informing itself of the matter, met with the Chief Justice who indicated that there had been an increase in the level and range of work which had become more complex and accordingly some change in relativity was probably warranted.

2.3.4 The Tribunal also met with the Chief Magistrate to fully understand the changes that had occurred and to assist in deciding whether these changes had increased the work value significantly.

2.3.5 The Tribunal spent considerable time examining the work changes that have occurred in the Magistrates Court since 1992, both in terms of actual work and the complexity of that work and it has not been an easy task to reach a conclusion.

After full consideration of all the material and submissions, and its own inquiries, the Tribunal has reached the conclusion that there have been sufficient material changes to the work value of Magistrates which would warrant an increase in their salary relative to the current salaries of Puisne Judges in this State.

3. COMPARISON OF FEDERAL AND STATE JUDICIAL SALARIES

3.1 The submissions presented to the Tribunal by the Magistrates showed a comparison of jurisdictional relativities for all Australian states. South Australian Magistrates' relativity with a Puisne Judge was shown to be 67.12%. The Magistrates claim:

'The average of all other state jurisdictions is 71.36%. That is a significant differential. The adverse affect of this on South Australian Magistrates is compounded lowest relativity being applied against the lowest Supreme Court salary. South Australian Magistrates lag substantially behind all other state jurisdictions in their salary.'

3.2 The Minister's submission dated 21 May 2002 stated:

'In considering the relativity of courts in the South Australian hierarchy, it is not appropriate to consider the relativity of the judicial hierarchy in other states. The judicial hierarchy in each state is dependent upon legislation passed by the Parliaments of the different states. Legislation passed by the Parliaments in other states cannot affect the intention of the South Australian Parliament as expressed in its legislation.'

The Minister's submission went on to say:

'Accordingly, any comparison such as that contained in the Magistrates' submission, is not relevant and of no assistance to the Tribunal.'

3.3 As in other reviews the Tribunal chose to examine Federal and State judicial salaries. The Tribunal is advised that the present relevant judicial salaries (for the Magistrates and Puisne Judges in the States and Territories) are as follows:

State/Territory	Puisne Judge Salary $	Magistrates Salary $	Effective Date	Relativity %
New South Wales	220 840	168 650	1.10.01	76.37
Western Australia	226 689	163 216	1.1.02	72.00
Queensland	222 100	162 000	1.7.01	72.94
Victoria*	210 000	145 600	1.1.01	69.33
South Australia	218 500	146 660	1.11.01	67.12
Tasmania	225 192	152 005	1.7.02	67.50
Northern Territory	221 500	168 863	1.12.01	76.24
Australian Capital Territory	221 500	162 000	1.11.01	73.14

* The Victorian Tribunal was without membership for a lengthy period of time. New Tribunal members have recently been appointed.

4. OTHER ISSUES BEFORE THE TRIBUNAL

4.1 Superannuation

4.1.1 In their submissions the Magistrates detail differences in superannuation contribution rates and ask the Tribunal to address the inequity between the schemes.

4.1.2 The Minister advises that although the Magistrates do have three different levels of remuneration as a result of variations in superannuation contribution rates it does not believe the Tribunal should deal with superannuation and that issues such as superannuation should not be dealt with on an ad hoc basis.

4.1.3 The Tribunal has considered similar submissions in previous years and once again repeats that it is not prepared to provide any remuneration for differences in entitlements over which it has no control.

4.2 Out of hours work

4.2.1 The Magistrates have detailed the amount of out of hours work involved in performing their duties. They state that it was not the case that the additional duties listed in their submission have been taken into account in previous determinations. The Magistrates state that 'while the jurisdiction and practical requirements in respect of out of hours work have materially increased since 1992, salary considerations have not addressed this issue'.

4.2.2 Once again the Tribunal has heard similar submissions in previous years and reiterates that it is not appropriate to increase salaries or pay an allowance to Magistrates who are paid a substantial salary to take into account the responsibilities involved and the hours required to perform the role.

4.3 Circuit Work

4.3.1 In their submission the Magistrates comment that at the time of the 1992 Determination Resident Magistrates existed in areas such as Mount Gambier, Whyalla and Port Augusta. The Magistrates contend that although in 1994 the role of Resident Magistrates was abolished, work in country areas continues and that this work is now done by all Magistrates.

- 4.3.2 The Magistrates claim that this type of work along with the amount of out of hours travelling required contributes to the claim for a review of remuneration.
- 4.3.3 The Minister however disagrees and states that ‘the remuneration for Magistrates has always had to take into account circuit responsibilities’.
- 4.3.4 Upon analysis the Tribunal does not think the amount of circuit work done by Magistrates is significant to the claim of increased work value. The Tribunal also notes that the Government is about to commence a trial of a Resident Magistrate at Port Augusta. This trial, if successful, will see more Resident Magistrates appointed in the future.

4.4 Vehicles

- 4.4.1 The Magistrates also raise the issue of health and safety as the standard motor vehicle available to Magistrates is not fitted with dual airbags. Whilst it is acknowledged that some level of travel will always be required by Magistrates the Tribunal confirms that Magistrates already have the option to choose a vehicle with dual airbags. Health and Safety measures related to extensive travel, including the possible introduction of standard vehicles with dual airbags, is an area which is more appropriately dealt with by Government.

5. SOUTH AUSTRALIAN JUDICIAL RELATIVITIES

- 5.1 Although the Stipendiary Magistrates’ submissions are based on the changes which have occurred since 1992 in their jurisdiction and work performed, other officers within the Tribunal’s jurisdiction are or have been related to Magistrates remuneration in the past.
- 5.2 As such the Tribunal offered the Commissioners of the Environment, Resources and Development Commission and the Industrial Relations Commission, as well as the State Coroner, the opportunity to make submissions in regards to changes in their own roles.
- 5.3 In their submission representatives of the Environment, Resources and Development Court gave the Tribunal a history of the development of the Court and the changes which had taken place since the Environment, Resources and Development Act was passed in 1993.
- 5.4 The Commissioners of the Industrial Relations Commission indicated to the Tribunal that they did not wish to make submissions on the question of relativity at that time.
- 5.5 The State Coroner met with the Tribunal to expand on his earlier submission and gave details of the changes in his organisational structure as well as examples of public expectation as demonstrated by newspaper headings in relation to his work.
- 5.6 The Tribunal has not been convinced that the changes in these officer’s duties have been significant to the extent that existing relativities with Magistrates should be continued. If necessary further argument can be put to the Tribunal as part of the required annual review which will probably take place in December 2002.
- 5.7 Industrial Magistrates are Magistrates appointed under the Magistrates Act 1983, assigned by the Governor, by proclamation to be Industrial Magistrates and should therefore continue to be paid the same salary as Stipendiary Magistrates.

6. FLOW ON EFFECTS

- 6.1 As indicated in the Magistrates submission ‘the flow on effect of increasing the rate of pay of Stipendiary Magistrates would be that there would be a logical like increase for the Chief Magistrate, Supervising Magistrates, Assisting Supervising Magistrate of the Adelaide Magistrates Court and Magistrates directed by the Chief Magistrate to perform the duties of a regional manager or a Magistrate in Charge’.
- 6.2 The Minister submits that the position of Magistrates should not be considered in isolation. ‘If the remuneration of Magistrates is increased their relativity with all other tiers of the judicial hierarchy will be affected. There will be a possibility of other applications and “leapfrogging”’.
- 6.3 Although there is the possibility of further applications being made for remuneration increases the Tribunal does not consider this to be a reasonable argument for not making changes. The Tribunal has investigated the claim and is of the opinion that the changes in jurisdiction and responsibilities of Magistrates since 1992 are significant enough to warrant a review of their remuneration.
- 6.4 The offices mentioned in paragraph 6.1 have always had a margin above and direct relation to the office of Stipendiary Magistrate and the Tribunal considers that that relationship should be main-tained.

7. DETERMINATION AND OPERATIVE DATES

- 7.1 In their original submission the Magistrates did not raise the issue of the date of operation of any Determination. However in submissions made on 4 June 2002 the Magistrates requested that any increase be backdated to the date of their application, namely December 2001.
- 7.2 The Tribunal raised the possibility of the date of operation being retrospective in its response to a request of an extension of time in making submissions from the Minister's representatives on 19 April 2002. The Tribunal stated 'in light of this extension and that previously approved to enable the Minister to provide a submission in the public interest, the Tribunal will, if an increase is appropriate, consider as part of its deliberations any submissions which address a retrospective date of operation.'
- 7.3 The Tribunal is not prepared to grant the Magistrates' request but has determined 1 July 2002 is an appropriate date.
- 7.4 Having regard to information gathered and submissions made to the Tribunal along with section 15 of the Remuneration Act which requires the Tribunal when determining remuneration under this Act to have regard to the constitutional principle of judicial independence, salary levels in other jurisdictions and submissions made in the public interest, the Tribunal has determined that the salary of the Stipendiary Magistrate will be $153 000 per annum from 1 July 2002.

The salaries of Chief Magistrate, Deputy Chief Magistrate, Supervising Magistrates, Assisting Supervising Magistrate of the Adelaide Magistrates Court, Supervising Industrial Magistrate, Industrial Magistrates and Magistrates directed by the Chief Magistrate to perform the duties of a regional manager or a Magistrate-in-Charge have been increased from the same date to the annual amounts shown in the Determination.

Dated 29 July 2002.

DETERMINATION AND REPORT OF THE REMUNERATION TRIBUNAL

NO. 6 OF 2002

*Project Manager Magistrates Court
Mr A. R. Newman*

DETERMINATION No. 3 of 1999 of the Remuneration Tribunal determined that Mr Newman be paid a salary equal to that determined for a Stipendiary Magistrate directed by the Chief Magistrate to perform the duties of a Regional Manager.

On 1 July 2002, the Chief Magistrate submitted an application to the Remuneration Tribunal requesting the Tribunal continue the Determination that Mr Newman be paid in accordance with the paragraph above.

The Chief Magistrate has advised the Tribunal that Mr Newman has 'an ongoing role in consulting with and advising other Magistrates, Judges and members of staff of the Courts Administration Authority on an ad hoc basis in relation to many and varied information technology and computing issues, including the use of technological advances, in and out of the courtroom, to improve the efficiency of delivery of justice'.

The more important issues with which Mr Newman is currently involved include:

- Voice recognition software.
- Replacement of JURIS.
- Legal resources and Internet and Intranet.
- An Integrated Justice Information System (IJIS).

The application advised that the Attorney-General had agreed to a continuation of the current arrangement for a period of a further two years from 1 July 2002. A copy of the Attorney-General's agreement was attached to the application.

On the basis of the agreement, the Tribunal is satisfied that the existing arrangement should continue and accordingly determines that Mr Newman should continue to be paid a salary equal to that determined for a Stipendiary Magistrate directed to perform the duties of a Regional Manager.

The Determination will remain in force until 30 June 2004, or until the duties are no longer required to be performed by Mr Newman, whichever is the earlier.

DETERMINATION AND REPORT OF THE REMUNERATION TRIBUNAL

NO. 7 OF 2002

Resident Magistrate—Port Augusta Magistrates Court

ON 1 July 2002 the Chief Magistrate submitted an application to the Remuneration Tribunal requesting a Determination in respect of Magistrate, Frederick Robert Field who will be directed to be the Resident Magistrate at the Port Augusta Magistrates Court and for its associated circuits.

The Chief Magistrate advised that the Resident Magistrate will be responsible for the following circuit courts, Coober Pedy, Oodnadatta, Roxby Downs, Leigh Creek and Peterborough. Undertaking these circuit courts will require hundreds of kilometres of off bitumen driving in an isolated environment. Because of this, special arrangements are to be made for Mr Field to be provided with a four wheel drive vehicle in lieu of that with which he is currently supplied. Such four wheel drive vehicle to be at no extra cost to Mr Field than his current vehicle.

The Tribunal has also been informed that the provision of a Resident Magistrate at Port Augusta will be a pilot program for the period October 2002 until the end of 2003 when the program will be evaluated.

The Chief Magistrate has advised the Tribunal:

‘This is a management responsibility equivalent to that of a Regional Manager. While Mr Field will not have direct responsibility for other Magistrates, he will have a much more “hands on” role in the management of the courts under his control and work more closely with court staff, than do his metropolitan counterparts. Mr Field will also have a greater and more personal responsibility for establishing and running specialist courts in his bailiwick, than does a manager in the city. It is part of the project scheme that the Resident Magistrate establish and maintain close consultative links with local government, regional government agencies, community groups, police and court user groups.’

The Tribunal has been given a copy of a letter from the Attorney-General to the Chief Magistrate advising:

‘I accept the conditions put forward by Mr Fred Field as reasonable and support a regional allowance to Mr Field during the pilot term. I note your intention to make application to the Tribunal on Mr Field’s behalf. This application has my support.’

The Tribunal understands that if the trial is successful that Resident Magistrates will be re-introduced into other country centres.

The Tribunal has not examined in detail the relative duties and responsibilities of the Resident Magistrate vis-a-vis the duties and responsibilities of a Regional Manager but is prepared to accept that the proposal had agreement between the Chief Magistrate and the Government.

Accordingly the Tribunal determines that Mr Frederick Robert Field be paid a salary equal to that determined for a Stipendiary Magistrate directed by the Chief Magistrate to perform the duties of a Regional Manager for the time he is required to undertake the role of Resident Magistrate, Port Augusta.

The Tribunal also determines that Mr Field be supplied with a four wheel drive vehicle whilst undertaking the above duties at no extra cost above that of his current vehicle provision arrangements as provided for in Determination No. 5 of 2001.

This Determination will operate for the duration of the pilot program, commencing in October 2002 and remaining in place until the end of 2003 or until completion of the pilot program, whichever is the earlier.

The Tribunal notes that an evaluation of the pilot program is to be completed by the end of 2003 following which the Tribunal expects to be advised of any on-going role of Resident Magistrate, Port Augusta and the functions and duties at that time.
